

You Weren't Ashamed to Kiss Me Last Night

Ray Price

When I passed you on the street,
You're ashamed to say hello,
But you weren't ashamed to kiss me last night.

I'm afraid I can't compete,
With those uptown guys, you know,
But you weren't ashamed to kiss me last night.

If you're ashamed to recognize me in the daylight,
And I'm too proud to slip around to hold you tight.

You may think I'm commonplace,
And you're laughing in my face,
But you weren't ashamed to kiss me last night.

If you're ashamed to recognize me in the daylight,
And I'm too proud to slip around to hold you tight.

You may think I'm commonplace,
And you're laughing in my face,
But you weren't ashamed to kiss me last night.
No, you weren't ashamed to kiss me last night.
