My Autumn

I, I can't stand all those fools anymore.
Every glance is disgusting to me.
Watching how you destroy everything,
Everything that you touched at least once.

You've all repeated - that I've gone mad.
I do not care, I just don't look the same as you.

When I was just, nothing but a small child
I started to notice that all around is fake,
As if I was born, in a different epoch,
Much, much, earlier, than I should have come to here.

All of my life,
I gave for the exploration of secrets,
Which you can only,
You can only just dream about it.
You cannot understand this.

My plan of escape,
From all those walls - fly over through our time,
To there, Where I should have appeared into this world.

My forgiveness will not last this time much longer,
I've got nothing to lose,
My great idea is almost ready, I guess,
The light is waiting,

Don't understand,
Something went wrong,
How could that have been so different?

No, I could not,
Make a miscalculation,
It's all your fault,
You will destroy yourself, and everything around.

Our fucking world,
World of a new period,
It's all destroyed,

There's emptyness.

I, I can't stand all those fools anymore,
I can not stand here even an hour,
Just continue to ruin everything,
Soon my body cools down forever.
