

Give It Away

Greg Holden

I can see my place
On a nowhere road
Where the stars shine bright
And the skies hang low
I can watch, I can drink
I will not have to think for tomorrow. I can dream of a time
When my worries are gone
I can hope for a day
Where nothing goes wrong
But the truth of it is
Is we never really let go of wanting You've got to give it away
You don't need it
Just give it away
What's the point of it
Just give it away
It is not worth the headache I can talk all day
About the way that I've changed
I can send my money
To a third-world place
But it don't mean a thing
If my intentions are not getting purer We can preach all we like
Of the things we have read
But at the end of the day
It's just a quote in our head
No, we won't ever know
How it's all going to go, will we really, no You've got to give it away
You don't need it
Just give it away
What's the point of it
Just give it away
It is not worth the headache Oooohh
Oooohh Just give it away
You don't need it
Just give it away
What's the point of it
Just give it away
It is not worth the headache Just give it away
You don't need it
Just give it away

What's the point of it
Just give it away
It is not worth the headacheJust give it away
You don't need it
Just give it away
What's the point of it
Just give it away
It is not worth the headacheJust give it away
You don't need it
Just give it away
What's the point of it
Just give it away
You don't need it (Just give it away)
Just give it away
What's the point of it (Just give it away)
Just give it away
It is not worth the headache
