Run Wild

Laney Jones

There's a light at the end of the darkness
The last step is always the hardest
But we fight it
And we push against the world that's caving in
It's not power that makes you the strongest

Run wild, run free
The sky's beneath our feet
Run wild, run free
Won't hide what we were meant to be

There's a dream that waits like a tiger
An amber that grows to a fire
And we're climbing to the greatest heights
The world can't stop us now
They try to bring us down, but we just burn brighter

Run wild, run free
The sky's beneath our feet
Run wild, run free
Won't hide what we were meant to be
