From a Motel 6

Yo La Tengo

you shouldn't hide but you always do cause even when you're gone, I can see right through you want disconnection you want me there enough for twopull a woollen blanket across my eyes dream a quiet place for us to fight oh no, your heart is broken don't you think that's a little trite?I climb where I can see you're close but I won't reach blank stare at the tv CNN's on channel 3in the passing lane on 1 and 9 stuck in sad, car stuck in drive
oh no, your heart is broken
well, you can have what's left of mine

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/