Empty Pool

Cibo Matto

No reflection on the water, I go nowhere
The moon is unfair to steal my tears
A flower bloomed in the water
Time is unfair
Words tangle my hairIn an empty pool, I was swimming alone
But I felt someone watching me
The only thing I heard was the sound of a droneIn an empty pool, I was swimming alone
But I felt someone touching me
The only thing I found was a word unknown
My heart was floating, floating, floatingNo sounds in the water
I don't know where to put my heart in the air
Time is cruel, but does it matter
We are not aware
We are not scared to see our fearIn an empty pool, I was swimming alone
But I felt someone talking to me
The only thing I could do was throw in a stone
Oh no, copy paste again, I'm always on the run forever
In an empty pool, I was swimming alone
But I felt someone staring at me
Only my eyes were dry as a bone
My heart was floatingIn an empty pool, I was swimming alone
But I felt someone watching me
The only thing I felt was the sound of a droneIn an empty pool, I was swimming alone
But I felt someone calling me
The only thing I found was a world, unknown
My heart was floating
