

Lights Out

Millencolin

Looking back with anger, looking back with joy and laughs
Don't ask me all those questions, cause I don't have the answers now
I tried to hold back all my thoughts and all my dreams
Just to make things better, I was using myself past my means But all those days are gone
And I can't find the path that I should follow
I'm walking unknown land
Mile after mile I search the way back to my mind
And I can not believe how hard is to find
When I'm down I used to make things easy, I used to be a happy guy
But now things seem so different, that I can't even play the game
I got to try to find the way through all this now
So what I need now, is someone to read the map cause I don't know how But all those days are gone But all those days are gone
And I can't find the path that I should follow
I'm walking unknown land
Mile after mile I search the way back to my mind
And I can not believe how hard is to find
When I'm down I fell ashamed and I'm to blame
Cause I tried to be, I tried to see things from my side
And I also bleed, I also need some space
It's time to close this case But all those days are gone
And I can't find the path that I should follow
I'm walking unknown land
Mile after mile I search the way back to my mind
And I can not believe how hard is to find
When I'm down
