Saturation

The Superjesus

Colour in the shade of winters tide I'm not waiting, diving, diving down.
Nothing left for star gazing tonight and i know you're diving, diving down to the sea, faster than the chill that follows me.Black and white through rust and powdered eyes, i'm not waiting, nothing to no one Always old and always realise, that you're fading, nothing to no one You'll stay, waiting for the rain, and all that you knew is divided in two.(x 2) If you run a thousand miles away, you'll never see the day that longed to wait The night we saturate, the stars will never shine again, and now forever's running to the end, to take you back again.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/