Accidental

Amber Hills

Whoa, whoa, whoa, whoa
I'm always at the place where your friends meet
It's the long way home but I walk your street
And when I trip and fall right at your feet
It's not accidental
I make it feel like luck is in the air
Every time you turn I'm standing there
You look into the stars, our names are clear
It's not accidental
And when you get a wrong number
Don't hang up too soon, stop and wonder
You are the one that's meant for me
I'm twisting fate to make believe
It's all accidental
This was always meant to be
And when you're in my arms then you will see
It wasn't accidental
Whoa, whoa, whoa, whoa
I know you like the kind of clothes I wear
Think I threw them on without a care
The style's from a book you read, a magazine you left
It's not coincidental
And even when you hear your favorite song
You don't know but I put it on
You bought the record yesterday so I knew what to play
It's not coincidental
And when you get a wrong number
Don't hang up too soon, stop and wonder
You are the one that's meant for me
I'm twisting fate to make believe
It's all accidental
This was always meant to be
And when you're in my arms then you will see
It wasn't accidental
This all feels right time, right place, whoa
'Cause every time I see you face to face our future calls
Not saying you bend the truth, just doing my best to get to you
Oh, made you my destiny
Whoa, you are the one that's meant for me

I'm twisting fate to make believe
It's all accidental
This was always meant to be
And when you're in my arms then you will see
It wasn't accidental
You are the one that's meant for me
I'm twisting fate to make believe
It's all accidental
This was always meant to be
When you're in my arms then you will see
It wasn't accidental
Whoa, whoa, it's not accidental, accidental

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/