

Crimson Day

Avenged Sevenfold

Dark is brought in this rain, out in the cold I lost my way.
The storms will lastly clear the air for something new the sun came out and brought you through A lifetime full of words to say, a hope that time will slow the passing day. I've been wrong, time's over and I've been chained with no words to find.
But if the sun will rise, bring us tomorrow,
walk with me...
Crimson day. Don't speak, no use for words lie in my arms, sleep secure.
I wonder what you're dreaming of,
lands bright and far the time has come to reach the stars. A lifetime full of words to say, a hope that time will slow the passing day. I've been wrong, time's over and I've been chained with no words to find.
But if the sun will rise, bring us tomorrow,
walk with me...
Crimson day. I've come so far to meet you here, to share this life with one I hold so dear.
I won't speak but what is true, the world outside created just for you.
It's for you, for you. I've been wrong, time's over and I've been chained with no words to find.
But if the sun will rise, bring us tomorrow,
walk with me...
Crimson day...
