

Falling From You

Grieves

And in come the strings,
Playing my patience like a note that I never had the guts to sing
I've been living with your lies 'cause my life don't feel quite right unless I'm swelling from the honeybee sting
And look at what you bring me, girl
Nothing but drama, holding on strong to making me feel your woes
How long can we go until we're nothing but a pile of bones?
Stand tall in the cold, right?
You tell me that it's over,
And show me what it's like to have a stomach full of sulfur
And loving you has taught me to keep a hand on the holster,
In case I gotta shoot a couple holes.
But what the hell do I know, huh?
Yeah, I don't know shit unless I'm hanging off the curve of your lips
I've been looking for an angel like you in you since the devil in me made it obvious it doesn't exist. How, how will I figure this out?
Under tow dragging you down
Beneath the comforts over that love I gave you round.
I'm freaking out, speaking with your name in my mouth
And I don't wanna live without you, I just want to clear your clouds.
Away, away, away. I'm into the fake smiles,
Walking 'round like a stray child
Trying to find a quiet place to sleep.
I don't know if you can feel it in the air when you step into the street
But I've been finding it a little hard to breathe
And look at what you brought me, girl
Nothing but pain.
Spending my money for a walk in the rain, I'm drained.
And never wanted this to be the outcome.
When I can ever trust you and all I get is, how come?
Why, after everything I gave you can share it with a stranger every time I went away.
I've been lied to before girl,
I see it in your face that you don't care about the broken heart I taste.
But what the hell do I know?
I know the world will go blind if I open up the cage of my mind.
I've been running from an angel like you since the devil in me showed me heaven's not about a bottom line. How, how will I figure this out?
Under tow dragging you down
Beneath the comforts over that love I gave you round.

I'm freaking out,
Speaking with your name in my mouth.
And I don't wanna live without you,
I just want to clear your clouds.
Away, away, away.
Away, away, away.
Away, away, away.
