

Stars (Chris Alarcon Remix)

RAYA

All the stars have faded,
Cause they don't want to see what we've done.
And who could blame them,
Who'd want to shine their light on us? If the sky drained into the empty space between my heart and my brain,
All my fear would fall away. If I could end what I started,
Then would I make you proud?
If I could leave an impression,
On the mind of one man with heart full of doubt
Then I would hold you tighter than I ever have
And I'd let your love melt in the palm of my hands
And we could dance like we never had the chance,
Like we couldn't resist,
We're children holding hands And you'd believe me when I said you'd always have me,
Always had me
Always will. And you'd believe me when I said you'd always have me, always had me
And you'd believe me when I said you'd always have me, always had me
And we could dance like we never had the chance,
Like we couldn't resist,
We're children holding hands And you'd believe me when I said you'd always have me, always had me
And you'd believe me when I said you'd always have me, always had me
