

Jesse Jackson

Kris Kristofferson

He was walking with your brother on the streets of Alabama
He was marching next to Martin when he died
Working face to face in Cuba and Managua, Nicaragua
He did not yet beat the devil but he tried Hold on brother, Jesse Jackson, there's a better world a coming
Where a man can hope a man will show some heart
You just keep right on believing in the better side of human
They ain't ready for it yet but it's a start
And you move 'em when you hit 'em in the heart We must bring it all together, we must start right from the bottom
Back to helping one another when we can
'Cause if he's hungry and he's human and he's fighting for his freedom
Then he shouldn't be too hard to understand Hold on brother, Jesse Jackson, there's a better world a coming
Where a man can hope a man will show some heart
You just keep right on believing in the better side of human
They ain't ready for you yet but it's a start
And you move 'em when you hit 'em in the heart

Songwriters

Kris Kristofferson Published by

NOTTING HILL MUSIC INC. Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>