Already Somebody's Lover

Lila McCann

(Mark Spiro)Maybe he lives in the city
Workin' on a college degree
Or maybe he's a boy in Paris
Tryin' to paint a picture of meSo I'm sorry that I can't go any further with you
And tonight may be a night I'll regret
But I'm already somebody's lover
He just hasn't found me yetMaybe he works on the railroad
Or he's drivin' from town to town
Saving his pay for our wedding day
Then he's gonna settle downHe's just lookin' for a girl to send some flowers to He's as honest and true as they get
See I'm already somebody's lover
He just hasn't found me yetI see his face in my dreams every night
And I wake up with the taste on my lips
And he'll never pack it in or walk out on me
The way my father didSo I'm sorry that I can't go any further with you
And tonight may be a night I'll regret
But I'm already somebody's lover
He just hasn't found me yet

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/