

The Decline

Champion

I was reliving all those times we shared
And it's hard, because there's nothing left of you
    And I can see you're not the same
You used to be so strong, but time has changed you
You turned awayI keep on trying and trying to escape from the past
    Because those days used to mean so much
We stood side by side and nothing else mattered
We were Straight Edge and at least I still amDid you forget about what we said?
    Or did it just not mean that much?
    Sitting with my head in my hands
Wondering what happened to usNow only a whisper remains of the person I once knew
    We came, we conquered those days
But now, now you're goneDon't tell me you're the same
    Because you gave your heart away
    And in return you got nothing
