Believe In Something

Youth Brigade

i went out walking just had to think all day spent talking really need a drink we have the luxury of fighting in our seats a price for any justice the whole notion stinks what the hellare we doing with our lives screaming for freedom while fighting with all sides say there's a reason justify the lies but i think we're empty inside i know a girl a girl so smart she can talk endlessly of why we're so apart i know a boy a boy so tough stand up to anything but he'll never say enough what the hell are we doing with our lives screamin for freedom while fighting with all sides say theres a reason justify the lies but i think we're empty inside... should i believe in you believe in me believe in god , country and the family believe in greed the corporate state belive that power and money means strength believe in love and the birds and the bees believe in peace honour and harmony believe that we should live and let live i'ts up to you just believe in something. i want to think you believe in you i believe in me willit set you free someone's always telling you what to believe in and i don't think you should have to fear pay any money or sacrifice years to find some peace of mind to find a way to believe in something

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/