

Dickens' Dublin (The Palace)

Loreena McKennitt

She went looking for the solution
To a problem that did not exist
She found answer and she found some friends there
Consciousness raising as a social tool
She went looking for some direction
And to ease her loneliness somehow
She left her husband and she left her family
'Cause she prays to a new God now
Feeding the wonder, feeding the hunger
Feeding the need to believe
Looking for love and looking for someone
Looking for somewhere to be
She went looking for the solution
To a problem that did not exist
She found answer and she found some friends there
Consciousness raising as a social tool
