

Gravity Decides

Folk Implosion

I collide with the world again
Creep with the summer on my skin
Strapped to machinery, theory and catastrophe
Opened up and let it in Radar, we are, could be willing
Spot my eyes and cross the line
Tell me I'm more than I'm feeling
Say the mirror only lies There's more than gravity pushing on me
I know the heart's a muscle too
See a pulse up close and quiver
Still holding back the rapture
There's more than gravity pushing on me
Gravity decides I collide with the world again
On the street, in the sky
Sidestep tragedy, bring back casually
Check the poison, I survive Radar, we are, could be willing
Spot my eyes and cross the line
Tell me I'm more than I'm feeling
Say the mirror only lies There's more than gravity pushing on me
I know the heart's a muscle too
See a pulse up close and quiver
Still holding back the rapture There's more than gravity pushing on me
Gravity decides
Mirrors only lie, gravity decides
Mirrors only lie, gravity decides
