Lisa Loeb

There's wood for the fire but there's no matches
no matches
been here for awhile
but there's no matches
no matches Just fools on a wire balancing old and untried so we will fall into the night
'cause there's no matches
no matches
Last night I closed my eyes see my life flashing, flashing why am I so surprised that it's not lasting, lasting I can't make a sound 'cause I have burned to the ground ashes and dust falling down among the old matches, old matches Please wash the ashes away you know I don't like to beg but give me a spark to cut the grey 'cause there's no matches 'Cause there's no matches no more matches
