If You Ever Stop Loving Me

Montgomery Gentry

My old mans back hand used to land
Hard on the side of my head
I just learned to stay out of his way
But then street fights, blue lights, long nights
With the world sittin' on my chest
It just showed me how much I can takeHard times, bad luck
Sometimes life sucksThats alright, Im okay
It aint nothing but another day
But only God knows where Id be
If you ever stop lovin meThe bank man, the bossman, the lawman
All tryin to get their hands on me
And I aint even done a damn thing wrong
I been waylaid, freight trained, short changed
By bigger and badder men
And all I got to say is bring it onHard rain, rough roads
So my life goesThats alright, Im okay
It aint nothing but another day
But only God knows where Id be
If you ever stop lovin meI need you, gotta have you
In my life by my side everyday I'm alive
Every night that Im breathin, Im needin
YouThats alright, Im okay
It aint nothing but another day
But only God knows where Id be
If you ever stop lovin meIt aint nothing but another day
But only God knows where Id be
If you ever stop lovin me
If you ever stop lovin me
You see [Incomprehensible]
If I came to my knees
Yeah, yeah
