

I See You

Yelawolf

Verse 1

Once upon a time not long ago my grandmother told me I'd change
I felt like she was coming down on me so I told her no I'd be the same
Not knowing she was only trying to help motivate me to excel and climb
I was thinking she was the one trapped while I was stuck in a cage of my mind
Man if I would've known what I know now
I would've brought my head down under the cloud
Told her thank you and that I loved her but I was too cool and too damn proud
What a fool I was in fact I've changed so much now looking back
I wish somebody I thought was cool was as cool as she was when she told me that

Hook

I see you the real you
Trying to cover up whats inside of you
But everything you do was make believe
Yeah you're hot but you're too cool
I see you
I see you
I see you

Verse 2

Baby girl don't know much about what it would take to become a star
Hollywood is so far-fetched too long of a drive in an old car
Work everyday but you barely eat going over lines from a script you read
Your boyfriend says it's a silly dream but how can you dream when you never sleep
You looking the mirror and you picturing a light show
A glimpse in the lens of a camera behind the scenes of life is a type role
Yeah you walk a thin line, but a thin line is all you need
A thin line and an indy movie, just to break for somebody to see the Talent inside, the ballad of the diary you write
The by and by is just another day for a normal girl but for you it's another day that you try
Aside from the fact that you ride on the back of a bus sometimes cause your car won't work
But maybe you should take that bus to L.A. and put your dreams first because

Hook

I see you the real you
Trying to cover up whats inside of you
But everything you do was make believe
Yeah you're hot but you're too cool

I see you

I see you

I see you

Verse 3

Black and white, everything is black and white broke down simple and plain

Most of us lost with the curious brain

Curiosity is looked at as strange

Stuck in that lane but you can't complain

While you look at another passing train

Wondering how, where is it going

Wishing you were inside, packed and rolling

To another place but your time is chosen

To live low key cause your dream is stolen

They don't understand, they believe in loathing

Lounge and loafing, waiting hoping

Homie if the grass is greener; look, the gate is open

You waiting for God to release the ocean

Sitting on the beach, 2 feet from floating

Hook

I see you the real you

Trying to cover up what's inside of you

But everything you do was make believe

Yeah you're hot but you're too cool

I see you

I see you

I see you
