

(Shades Of) Ruinous Blue

Cousteau

pale luminescent face
cumulescent grace now borne in shades of Ruinous Bluethin, like the river's wrinkled skin all the mirrors in the heavens already shaded in Ruinous Blue...there's brooding and moody truths moving through the moonlight the world's lonely edge there be monsters
hedging no tomorrow
in Ruinous Bluethrown
towed between the Earth and sea shown the secrets
that the sleepless secretly realise
in Ruinous Blue
