Where Were You

Every Avenue

Home for the weekend, lookin' for a good time

Of all the numbers, you end up callin' mine

Ready or not, I think Ill give this a shot

I should know better than to give her what she wantsI picked her up and she was three-fourths gone

She passed out before we even got to talk

All I want to know is Where were you when I needed you most?

Why did you leave me alone?

We gave up before we gave it a chance

And I dont understandBack to where we left off, baby

How you been and Whats been new with you lately

Just forget it, its the same old runaround

You build me up just to let me down, downWhere were you when I needed you most?

Why did you leave me alone?

We gave up before we gave it a chance

And I dont understandWhere were you when I needed you most?

Why did you leave me alone?

We gave up before we gave it a chance

And I dont understandJust forget it, its the same old runaround

Just forget it, just forget it

Just forget it, its the same old runaround

Just forget it, just forget itWhere were you when I needed you most?

Why did you leave me alone?

We gave up before we gave it a chance

And I dont understand, I dont understandWhere were you when I needed you most?

Why did you leave me alone?

We gave up before we gave it a chance

And I dont understandWhere were you when I needed you most?

Why did you leave me alone?

We gave up before we gave it a chance

And I dont understandHome for the weekend, lookin' for a good time
