

Good to Be a Man

Elle King

It's good to be a man these days.
Don't have no conscience about my evil ways.
Don't never feel bad for the awful things I say.
It's good to be a man these days.

To be a man would be serene.
Drinkin' beer till I get mean.
Chewin' tobacco, kissin' girls; that life's a dream.
To be a man would be serene.

And I bet it gets tirin',
always havin' to be right.
Well i love to be a cheatin' man
to fill those lonely nights.

To be a man would be just fine
My only worry would be my receding hairline.
I only give love that's on my own time
to be a man would be just fine.

To be a man would be damn good.
I'd do dumb things 'cause I should Get stuck in a ditch like my woman knew I would
to be a man would be damn good.

It's good to be a man these days. (x4)

Lyrics submitted by Kendall Gray.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>