

So High

The Motet

So high
This is what it feels like
When everything is Alright
And it goes all night... till the day light
The purple light of the morning, not yet come
The night is young, and we ain't going no where
The neon trails of the sunlight, start to come
But we're still here, and we ain't going no where, no where
So high
This is what it feels like
When everything is Alright
And it goes all night... till the day light
The haze of greener gardens, fill the air
Without a care, and we ain't going no where
The empire of the sun transforming, the evening air
Without a care, and we ain't going no where
So high
This is what it feels like
When everything is Alright
And it goes all night... till the day light
