

In Hiding

My Iron Lung

It's these things I don't want
So I push and pull and navigate to the place I feel most comfortable
Where I can keep my mind off everything, where I can keep away from you
For the longest time I blamed myself
For the longest time I took responsibility for what was half your fault
Merely everything changed
I realized i'm not the only one to have done something wrong
Half of it was trying, something you weren't willing to do
Did you ever mean a thing you said?
Does that crescent moon mean anything to you?
The way it shines, the way I tried too
But that wasn't enough, I guess nothing was
And you don't know how hard it's been These dreams keep me awake haunting me often
Pull the covers over my head
In hiding
The only place I wanted to be
In hiding
Hold on tight to the things you love
Let them go, if the ones you love don't return then you know it is gone
