Leave Right Now

Will Young

I'm here just like I said
Though it's breaking every rule I've ever made
My racin' heart is just the same
Why make it strong to break it once again?
And I'd love to say I do, give everythin' to you
But I can never now be true so I say
I think I better leave right now before I fall any deeper
I think I better leave right now, feeling weaker and weaker
Somebody better show me how before I fall any deeper
I think I'd better leave right now
I'm here so please explain
Why you're opening up a healing wound again
I'm a little more careful, perhaps it shows
But if I lose the highs at least I'm spared the lows
And I would tremble in your arms, what could be the harm
To feel my spirit calm? So I say
I think I better leave right now before I fall any deeper
I think I better leave right now, feeling weaker and weaker
Somebody better show me out before I fall any deeper
I think I better leave right now
I wouldn't know how to say how good it feels seeing you today
I see you've got your smile back, like you say, you're right on track
But you may never know why once bitten twice is shy
If I'm proud perhaps I should explain, I couldn't bear to lose you again
I think I better leave right now before I fall any deeper
I think I better leave right now, I'm feeling weaker and weaker
Somebody better show me out before I fall any deeper
I think I better leave right now
Yes, I will
I think I better leave right now, I'm feeling weaker and weaker
Somebody better show me out before I fall any deeper
I think I better leave right now

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/