

The Seventh Eclipse

Eternal Tears of Sorrow

[music: Talala & Hiltula & Puolakanaho & EToS]

[lyrics: Vetelinen & Talala] I see the darkness falling on these fields

I feel the cold hands of the midwinter night

The claws of frost are plowing the naked skin of mine

The painful harrow of the eclipse time I see the angels falling...their wings so dark

The black spear of the night impales their hearts

I raise my hands towards the sky

And I feel the power of the glowing light The seventh eclipse is burning my flesh like the shining sun

Another star of the black heaven is going out

The goat of the shadows is praying for the new black dawn to break

The seventh rain will wash all my years away The fulfilment of this rite of night

Gives me the spirit of the northern pride

The children of the night are singing to me...

I'm one of them...forever free The seventh eclipse is burning my flesh like the shining sun

Another star of the black heaven is going out

The goat of the shadows is praying for the new black dawn to break

The seventh rain will wash all my tears away The seventh eclipse is burning my flesh like the shining sun

Another star of the black heaven is going out

The goat of the shadows is praying for the new black dawn to break

The seventh rain will wash all my years away

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>