Ball and Chain

McKenzie Lockhart

You may be a ball and chain
But you always pull your weight
Never hold me down
But always stay, you always stay with me

(Chorus)
Then walk hand in hand across this land that we call home
And when I feel you slip I'll tighten my grip and pull you close
Just so you know, baby I love taking care of you

You may be a little worn and frayed
Tie the knot anyway
They say we need to straighten out
For a tangled mess is made
I just call it interlaced

(Chorus)
Then walk hand in hand across this land that we call home
Then when I feel you slip I'll tighten my grip and pull you close
Just so you know, baby I love taking care of you

(oooh's)

There'll be mountains, there'll be valleys,
There'll be storms, there'll be days of sailing smooth
But in the hearts in the depths, there's no place I'd rather be than tethered to you

(Chorus)
We'll walk hand in hand across this land that we call home
Then when I feel you slip I'll tighten my grip and pull you close
Just so you know, baby I love taking care of you
