It's Not Me

Ten Foot Pole

You took my closest friends
Split my family
I gave up everything I had
Except your memory but I knowSomeone will hold your hand tonight
You won't remember me tonight
I wish I could forget so easilySomeone will hold your hand tonight
Someone will sleep right by your side
All I know is it's not meI miss your piercing glare
I miss your fearless touch
All the little things
I never thought would mean so muchAnd after all this time
I thought we would forgive
I guess there is no turning back
You have your life to liveI'm here all by myself
Remembering that you once said that
You would always be there, wait and seeSomeone will hold your hand tonight
You won't remember me tonight
I wish I could forget so easilySomeone could hold your hand tonight
Someone could sleep right by your side
All I know is it's not, I know that it's not Know that it's not me
