Noone's Song

Fool's Garden

(Hinkel / Freudenthaler)Here am I sitting on wasted land From above
maybe I'd understand why the winds have changed all my life Only I've remainedHere you are waiting for anything When will you get across to get in All the lines have changed After all only you've remainedWhere am I?
Wasn't there anyone passing by?
Hasn't my life begun
in a world of change?
Slowly I
overcome the rangeNow everything is strange, I hardly realised that anything has changed The world under my eyesand all the pretty things they stopped to be around There's nothing left, it seems they're buried in the groundWhen everything is lost beyond the endless skies there's everything to find until the morning dies'Cause every step is change with every single day We leave the world behind before we fade awayLife is so precious don't let them take it away

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/