

Noone's Song

Fool's Garden

(Hinkel / Freudenthaler) Here am I sitting on wasted land From above
maybe I'd understand why the winds have changed all my life
Only I've remained Here you are waiting for anything When will you get across to get in All the lines have changed After all only you've remained Where am I?
Wasn't there anyone passing by?
Hasn't my life begun
in a world of change?
Slowly I
overcome the range Now everything is strange, I hardly realised that anything has changed The world under my eyes and all the pretty things they stopped to be around There's nothing left, it seems they're buried in the ground When everything is lost beyond the endless skies there's everything to find until the morning dies 'Cause every step is change with every single day We leave the world behind before we fade away Life is so precious don't let them take it away
