

Welcome to the Family

A Day to Remember

We're finally home at last
I've waited for this day to come
There's just something about you that rubs me wrong
You're not worth my attention
I built this with my own two hands
If you could sever the ties and stop using me as your next misconceptionChorus: X2
I don't believe that everything you've known about me is gone forever
And I won't forget the days that we spent forever, it haunts meIt won't be long before you meet your end
You're nothing more than a passing frame
So keep those cameras rolling
You think I wouldn't remember?
You're just another whisper in myself
You can spare me the lies
You don't believe in me
Your life's a contradictionChorus: X2
I don't believe that everything you've known about is gone forever
And I won't forget the days that we spent forever, it haunts meWe draw the line at Being in your life.
Here's to the man of the hour,
We cast all problems aside,
Cheers to your future,
May they bury you alive.MOVE!!!!!!Chorus: X2
I don't believe that everything you've known about is gone forever
And I won't forget the days that we spent together, it haunts me.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>