Dragonstorms

The Kovenant

Through the Dark I storm with hate, ablaze with gruesome mightAgain destruction walks my path as I battle for the nightBlackwinds come and lift my dragonwings into the skyCarry me across domains, towards the night I flyI spread my wings across the fields, forever growing cold
Lightning fills my heart like myths had once foretoldI prowl the woods for living blood, the reaper of lightAgain destrucion walks my path, I conquer for the nightThe dragonstorms flew away with the starwinds...Towards the realm of nights...into the dark where dragons ride....I crave for darkness...I crave for the dragonstorms to come again
Come forth thou glorious night, embrace me in your triumphant graspMy eyes they gleam with victory under the blackening sun
Through the clouds I storm with pride, the battle has been wonCravens of the light they flee as dragons ride again
Evil dominates the world...as i am unchainedSee the firedragons they ride as fogwinds of beautyThe forevernight is here at last..the sun now fades awayEmbraced by triumph I take the throne and crown myself the king
Eternal darkness veils the sky....hear the dragons singThe dragonstorms flew away with the starwinds...Towards the realm of nights...into the dark where dragons ride....
