

Man & Earth

Raised Fist

Stop and listen
Standing on top of this beautiful world
Watching the clouds rearrange
But I'm not the least entertained
I want to complain about climate change
It might not be of your concern
Finish your bottle of water and return
To the beach in order for the sun to burn a little more You will never learn
When you play with your kids on the grass in box of glass
Connecting the dots from the past and the shadow it casts
Called greenhouse gas Stop and listen
It takes impressive wisdom
Corporatism in order to stand up straight
By living in symbiosis with this ecosystem It's a new day, another game This is how we play
When we betray
Man and earth
A bad combination
People are asleep
Maximum sedation Dinnertime with wine, pantomime
Nobody wants to discuss and underline
Any signs of environmental crimes Keep playing Angry Birds on your iPhone
Keep filling your breasts with silicone
Keep building muscles with testosterone
Stay away from all the unknown Keep moving around in your comfort zone
Keep filling your head with shit 'til it blows
Keep cutting up wounds that can't be re sewn
Keep cutting down trees that took thousands of years to grow
Keep ignoring the next cyclone Keep on postponing
Keep on going until you're all alone
Keep on going until you're all alone It's a new day, another game This is how we play
When we betray
Man and earth
A bad combination
People are asleep
Maximum sedation We take another bank loan to buy new homes
Where we can sit and moan
And consume pain relieving methadone
Relaxing on the porch, the passing of the torch
Take a last breath, you just found death Stay away from all the unknown

Keep moving around in your comfort zone
Keep filling your head with shit 'til it blowsKeep on postponing
Keep on going, keep on going on until you're all aloneIt's a new day, another game
This is how we play when we betray
