One Defining Spark

Attalus

In the shadows where you safely hide
Love is watching with an unseen eye
Closer to your heart it moves with quiet steps
Steals into your world as though it never left
Let it be your freedom; let it be your death
Let it be your freedom; let it be your death

Strong enough to break the hardest heart
Deep enough to leave a lasting mark
Brave enough to fight the devils of the night
Blinding them with one defining spark

You can't hide behind your wall of skin and bones
Close the window, bar the doors; but youâ€™re not safe inside that home
Cause the footsteps of the thief pound unnoticed underneath
Love will steal away the world you claim to own.

Take to flight, but you can't flee from Him
Cut the lights, but He still sees within Try to fight, but this will be your end
He'll break in; God will win

His Love is strong enough

Lyrics submitted by Attalus.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/