Company

Sarah Fairfield

Start your engines
Start your engines
Start your engines
Can we get the chemicals in
'Cause anything's better than this
Mix it up with Vicadin
'Cause anything's better than this
Little cuts on your wrist
To try and get back the feeling
And no real friendships exists
That would be an understatement
You can tell me the reason
(Cannot show up)
Friends, you knew before
(Hello, how have you been?)
This is your season
(Oh I give up)
Just show up
(I can't knock on your door)
'Cause I keep bad company
I'm trouble
So go on, stay away from me
I play the villain
You don't know where we've been
Go
Lining 'em up again
Start your engines
Lining 'em up again
Start your engines
Lining 'em up again
Start your engines
Start your engines
Can we get the chemicals in
Old English is making me manic
I go to SuicideGirls again
To check on anything I missed
The stitches don't even begin
To even stop up the bleeding
Can we get the chemicals in

'Cause anything's better than this
The city is dying
(Atleast to me)
The city is dead now
(My kingdom for a friend)
Are you even trying?
(To find some peace)
Don't need a reason
(I get some living in)
'Cause I keep bad company
I'm in trouble
It's a last chance, stay away from me
I play the villain
You don't know where we've been
Lining 'em up again
Keep saying, "This will end"
I keep bad company
I'm in trouble
Keep saying, "This will end"
Lining 'em up again
You know I'll never change
Lining 'em up again
Start your engines
Lining 'em up again
Start your engines
Lining 'em up again
Start your engines
Lining 'em up again
Start your engines
Lining 'em up again
Start your engines

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/