

ABBA Zabba

Fenix TX

These nights, they, they go by slower and slower
I'm searching for the sun beneath the sheets
And I think I'm getting colder and older
While jealousy just gets the best of meTake all this infatuation and envy
I never thought I'd be this way with you
Make your wish, blow out the candles
And I hope that every one of them comes trueAnd she said, "Don't live with frustration
I've learned from years of patience
Your day will come"
Don't live with frustration
I've learned from years of patience
Your day will comeDon't praise me because I made it through Without any help from you, without anyone at all
Don't hate me because I didn't make the call
And I'll never take the fallAnd she said, "Don't live with frustration
I've learned from years of patience
Your day will come"
Don't live with frustration
I've learned from years of patience
Your day will comeDon't live with frustration
I've learned from years of patience
Your day will come
Don't live with frustration
I've learned from years of patience
Your day will comeDon't live with frustration
I've learned from years of patience
Your day will come
Don't live with frustration
I've learned from years of patience
Your day will comeDon't live with frustration
I've learned from years of patience
Your day will come
Don't live with frustration
I've learned from years of patience
Your day will come
