

Empty Streets

Reboot Me

The city feels clean this time of night
Just empty streets and me walking home
    To clear my head
    And though it came as no surprise
    I'm affected more than I had guessed
        On what was said
        If love's not meant to be
        If the heart's not ready to open
        If we make it I won't see
            It's broken
        If love's not meant to be
        If the heart's not ready to open
        If we make it I won't see
            How it's broken
            How
    It's the quiet time before the dawn
    And I'm half past making sense of it
        Was I wrong?
        Should I think to give it all
    In a world where not much ever seems
        To last long
        If love's not meant to be
        If the heart's not ready to open
        If we make it I won't see
            It's broken
        If love's not meant to be
        If the heart's not ready to open
        If we make it I won't see
            How it's broken
            If love's not meant to be
            If the heart's not ready to open
            If we make it I won't see
                It's broken
                If love's not meant to be
                If the heart's not ready to open
                If we make it I won't see
                    How it's broken
                    How
                    How

How
