What the Fuck'd You Expect?

Against All Authority

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

She didn't need him She couldn't feed him and his father gets drunk And then he beats them Slips out at night when it gets dark They're living in a run-down trailer park he He's just gotta get outta there He's gotta get away And he doesn't really care what you think - He needs another drink Cause he got a beatin' and he'll wear it on his skin 'Cause tonight he's getting an arm full of ink Tthey're more of a family What the fuck'd you expect Than home has ever been Him to do He had no choices In a world full of hate it's nothing new And you have no clue What the fuck'd you expect him to do? He found a feeling that he'd never have in the bottom of a spoon He's moving forward cause there ain't no turning back Now he's rolling down the avenue He gotta gat from a Cutler Ridge car jack Well what the fuck'd you expect him to do? Well what the fuck'd you expect him to do? Somebody dropped A nickel rock - A gun shot In a parking lot When all he ever knew We were close when we were kids Get a job like you? Was surving the streets of Goulds But he's gotta be hard 'cause thats the way he lives But were the ones that pay Now he's locked in a cage so no one has to see him He's easy to forget - society don't need him So they had him locked away Now he's locked in a cage so no one has to see him 'Cause they're selling his image to kids everyday He's easy to forget - society don't need him
