In Your Arms

The Last Goodnight

You are the most beautiful thing I've ever seen in my entire life
You are the most beautiful thing these eyes have seenI met you at St. John's Cathedral down at Amsterdam
Made a trade with the devil and he gave me your hand
We both know this castle's made of sand
Close your eyes and fall asleep againI will fall asleep here in your arms
Every breath that you take breaks my heartI built us this boat so we both could sail far, far away
It sprung a leak inside, the captain forgot to say
That love is made of treading water, hearts of clay
I had no idea, I had no idea that we would die todayYou are the most beautiful thing I've ever seen in my entire life
You are the most beautiful thing these eyes have seenI will fall asleep here in your arms
Every breath that you take breaks my heart
I will fall asleep here in your arms
Every breath that you take breaks my heartAnd what do you think and what do you do
After the storm that we've been through?
I will come to your rescue, I will save this life tonight
And this could be everything that I ever could've owed you
I hear goodbyeI met you at St. John's Cathedral down at Amsterdam
Made a trade with the devil and he gave me your handI will fall asleep here in your arms
Every breath that you take breaks my heartAnd what do you think, what do you do
After the storm that we've been through?
I will come to your rescue, I will save this life tonightAnd what do you think, what do you do
(I will fall asleep here in your arms)
After the storm that we've been through?I will come to your rescue, I will save this life tonight
(Every breath that you take breaks my heart)
I will fall asleep here in your arms

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/