God Bless the S.O.S.

The Explosion

God, bless the kids who never talk out of turn
The kids who never learn who to live
They love the kids who keep their hands to themselves
And take just as much as they giveWho's gonna save you when you can't save yourself?
Better listen man you're on a road to hell
Who's gonna save you when you can't save yourself?
The quick fix is a dirty trick and you can't tellGod, bless the kids who live in the length
Of the shadow of someone else's dream
They love the kids who forget how to fight
Forget how to yell, forget how to screamWho's gonna save you when it all comes down?
If there's something you can do then do it now
Who's gonna save you when it all comes down?
You better watch out, you better watch out
