Stand Up

A Static Lullaby

This town of sober actors
Feel free to watch your city become more than a sitcom dependency
As they walk, the streets are bleeding from the talent that they're bringing
The stars will pave your journey
To another, to another x-rated love storyThe hills have become your idols
The hills have become your idolsStand up we're falling back again
We'll find something better we' ll do anything
(this town has failed us both)Stand up we're falling back again
We'll find something better, we' ll do anything
(this town has failed us both)
Stand up cause this town is failing usThis town of shifting power
Governed under Neilson ratings
Let's decide how to feed your children
Rise and fall to the sound they're scripting
Sit and smile at the pain you're buying
Will it hurt when we live in paradise?
We're washing up on sunsetSit and smile at the pain you're buying
Sit and smile at the pain you'll buyStand up we're falling back again
We'll find something better, we' ll do anything
(this town has failed us both)Stand up we're falling back again
We'll find something better we' ll do anything
(this town has failed us both)
Stand up cause this town is failing usThis might be your chance
And when you find them running with your gun in handStand up we're falling back again
We'll find something better, we' ll do anything
(this town has failed us both)Stand up we're falling back again
We'll find something better do anything
(this town has failed us both)
Stand upStand up

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/