

That's What I'm Here For

Jason Castro

"Goodbye, Los Angeles", you said with some regret
I'll do my best to find a way to help you to forget
I'm glad you made your way back here to find a better day
Seems like you're getting a little closer to okay
And if you need someone just to be around
Help put the pieces back that you finally found

That's what I'm here for

That's what I'm here for

When you need a little less, or you want a little more

That's what I'm here for

That's what I'm here for

I heard you saying that you're finally feeling free

Blowing kisses to the distant memories

Lately I've caught you smiling a little more

You're beautiful and I'm all yours

And if you need someone just to be around

Help put the pieces back that you finally found

That's what I'm here for

That's what I'm here for

When you need a little less or you want a little more

That's what I'm here for

That's why I can hold you just as long as you'll stay

I can tell you what no one would ever say

That it's alright to admit that you were wrong

Before you know it, all the scars will be gone

That's what I'm here for

That's what I'm here for

When you need a little less or you want a little more

When you need someone to find you when you're hiding from it all

That's what I'm here for

That's what I'm here for

That's what I'm here for
