Charley

Sean Rennie

And I called her Charly ,
She fell out of the sky
as the winds of July
were blowing , Charly

All Alone in the city ,
town without pity .
She was fragile ,
yet so pretty .

Like a lonely sparrow ,
broken heart , broken fears ,
broken wings , broken dreams ,
I'll call her Charly

She was ready to give in ,
Unforgiven ,
Only gratefull
to be living .

Shepherd of loving ,
you were all that I had prayed for ,
all that my heart and soul were made for ,
Oh Charly

You were an angel ,
born of my imagination ,
my only hope and inspiration ,
Oh Charly .

Lovely Cinderella ,
she came back from the cold ,
from my heart , from my soul ,
I love her , Charly

With my world built around her ,
could I doubt her ,
or begin to Live without her .

Shepherd of loving ,
you were all that I had prayed for ,
all that my heart and soul were made for '
Oh charly .

You were an angel ,
born of my imagination ,
my only hope and inspiration ,
Oh Charly .

And I called her Charly ,
She fell out of the sky
as the winds of July
were blowing , Charly .

I was husband and loved her ,
but then my Charly Spread her wings out ,
for another .

Shepherd of loving ,
you were all that I had prayed for ,
all that my heart and soul were made for ,
Oh Charly .

You were an angel ,
born of my imagination ,
my only hope and inspiration ,
Oh Charly .

Lyrics Submitted by Ken Laires

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/