

Again (feat. Kemal Golden) [Radio Edit]

Jessica Sutta

Once again, invincible
A snowy night is numbin' your soul
But by the time the morning comes
    The legend bursts
    Crashin' to the floor
    Crashin' to the floor
And then you do it againAnd then you do it again
    Cause you think it's the road to salvation
        And then you do it again
    Tell me what, what you're runnin' for
        And then you do it again
    Cause you need it to feed the sensation
        And then you do it again
    Wanna mend what you done before
And then you do it againYou're beautiful under the glow
    Of neon lights, but nobody knows
    The beauty fails under the sun
        The glitter comes
        Crashin' to the floor
Crashin' to the floorAnd then you do it again
    Cause you think it's the road to salvation
        And then you do it again
    Tell me what, what you're runnin' for
        And then you do it again
    Cause you need it to feed the sensation
        And then you do it again
    Wanna mend what you done before
And then you do it againBlack out the sun
    Hide from everyone
    Lay down your head
    Find me, again and again
        I'll be waiting
        Faithful, patient
        Always the savior
Never, never the savedCause you think it's the road to salvation
    And then you do it again
    Tell me what, what you're runnin' for
        And then you do it again
    Cause you need it to feed the sensation

And then you do it again
Wanna mend what you done before And then you do it again
Cause you need it to feed the sensation
And then you do it again
Wanna mend what you done before
And then you do it again
Cause you need it to feed the sensation
And then you do it again
Wanna mend what you done before
And then you do it again

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlyrics.com/>