Blame It On The Weather

Arthur Walwin

They say that letting go of what you love the most will be the best choice in the end.
So come a little closer, tell me youre a wreck and this is moving way too fast for you. Alas, its the same damn story that Ive heard a half a dozen times by a half a dozen girls.
Well this not about the ending and this is not about your words. This is getting over anything to do with you.
And I can blame it on the weather or I can blame it on your pills, but the fact is we were never meant to ever last.
I wrote you off the very second we broke up cause I could never go through this again with you cause baby you're a God damn mess just like you said you were; but I ignored it in spite of your eyes.
Well this not about the ending and this is not about your words. This is getting over anything to do with you.
And I can blame it on the weather or I can blame it on your pills, but the fact is we were never meant to ever last.
Can I consider this my lesson in romantics? But would it be so bad if I were there for you?
Well this not about the ending and this is not about your words. This is getting over anything to do with you.
And I can blame it on the weather or I can blame it on your pills, but the fact is we were never meant to ever last. And you went and tore this anniversary in half oh no, but I wont live another second in the past.
