

Whatever Will Be Will Be

En Vogue

Got a letter just the other day
So much was left unsaid
When you went away
How my heart grew so cold
From the misery of dreams agoAn open envelope
The last time that we spoke
You said that you would always be my manAnd now this letter's here
What will you say, my dear
To bring me to emotions once again?The truth of it you say
There's never been day
That you're not sorry you apologizeBut life teaches new things
Beyond the pain it brings
You to a place where you are truly wiseQue sera sera
What ever will be will be
I'm happy for you and me
That we can finally see what was meantQue sera sera
What ever will be will be
I'm happy for you and me
That we can finally see what was meantI know we've made mistakes
'Cause love is give and take
I mean to say it wasn't all your faultI too had some regrets
Such pain I've felt it yet
It's better to have love than not at allThe memories we had
Of all the good and bad
Has helped me be the woman that I amSo, don't apologize
I've come to realize
Just what is meant by all in love is fairQue sera sera
What ever will be will be
I'm happy for you and me
That we can finally see what was meantQue sera sera
What ever will be will be
I'm happy for you and me
That we can finally see what was meantSometimes, it's just not meant to be
But the love that we share goes on and on, spiritually
There'll be no more crying, noAnd there'll be no more lying, no, no, no, no, no
And the truth that we gained will offset the pain
And now we finally seeQue sera sera
What ever will be will be
I'm happy for you and me

That we can finally see what was meantQue sera sera
What ever will be will be
I'm happy for you and me
That we can finally see what was meantQue sera sera
What ever will be will be
I'm happy for you and me
That we can finally see what was meantQue sera sera
What ever will be will be
I'm happy for you and me
That we can finally see what was meant
