Something In The Air

Kind of Like Spitting

Something in the air just leaves me breathless, I've got enough for you to test this. 'cause you have no wilder smile and you cant reason after a while. Something feels so home today. Something feels like home today. You let that jerk make a jerk of you. They gave you just enough to pull you though and you wonder why your not happy. Something feels so home today. Scare me when you talk that way. we can hide away for now. [something]
