Come Take Your Place

Hilary Weeks

Can you hear it,
Can you hear it,
Angles are calling your name.
Do you feel it,
Do you feel it,
Heaven is lighting a flame.
Thereâ€™s a voice in your heart
Whispering who you are.

Can you see it,
Can you see it,
Your place in the Fatherâ€™s design.
Are you ready,
Are you ready,
This is your season to shine.
Thereâ€™s a voice through the dark
Gathering noble hearts

You carry the light of His Son
And running through your veins is royal blood
Youâ€™re the brave and the strong, youâ€™re the faithful
You have been saved for this moment in time.
You hear the call you feel the flame you've been prepared
Come take your place.

Can you hear the angles calling you
Do you recognize your name
Can you see your part in His Design
No one else can take your place
Thereâ€™s a voice clear and strong
Youâ€™re right where you belong

You carry the light of His Son
And running through your veins is royal blood
Youâ€™re the brave and the strong, youâ€™re the faithful
You have been saved for this moment in time.
You hear the call you feel the flame you've been prepared
Come take your place.

You are the brave

You are the strong
You are the faithful ones

You are the brave
You are the strong
You are the faithful ones

You are the brave
You are the strong
You are the faithful ones

You carry the light of His Son
And running through your veins is royal blood
Youâ€™re the brave and the strong, youâ€™re the faithful
You have been saved for this moment in time.
You hear the call you feel the flame you've been prepared
Come take your place.

Lyrics submitted by Heather Watson Baldwin.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/